How important is it to help other children join in with our games? We feel sad when we are left out. People who may look or behave differently from what we are used to are still like us underneath and have feelings just like us.

Can you remember feeling good about yourself when someone said something kind or encouraging to you?

Kind and positive words are a good way of helping others. If you see someone feeling sad because another person has been unkind, you could say a kind word to them - it might make a huge difference to that person's day.

Christians believe that God made us with all our differences and that God loves us as we are. So, when we say words to others, we should remember that differences are a good thing. We should also remember that words can hurt people. However, kind words can make someone feel much happier.

Dear God,

Help me to know that I am wonderful, in all my differences.

Help me to say kind words to others.

Help me to think about other people and to remember that my words make a big difference to them.

Please help me to help those who are sad.

Thank you that your words to me are always kind.

Amen
